Contract Revisions

Practice area: Business, Startup

What is a Contract Revision?

Contract Revisions are one of Goodlawyer's exclusive micro legal services. They're designed to take your existing contract and make it more effective and reliable for you and your business. Start by submitting your contract and discussing it with a Good Lawyer on the phone. Your lawyer will first try to understand your situation and needs, then advise you on what kind of changes you should consider for your contract. After your call, your lawyer will get to work on making the revisions to your contract as discussed.

Price: $45 per page + Tax.

- $35 Legal fee
- $10 Service fee
- *There is a 2-page minimum, but no charge for cover, signature, and any other non-substantial pages.

Included

- 15-minute phone call with a qualified lawyer
- Revisions to your contract, document, or form

Not Included

- Creating a brand new document from scratch
- Revisions so substantial that a lawyer effectively has to create a new contract from scratch
- Completing legal research or providing a formal written legal opinion
- Additional work or questions following the Contract Revision
- Negotiating on your behalf

What is the process?

- 1. Book your kick-off call. Pick a lawyer to revise your contract and schedule a convenient time to explain your needs and goals.
- 2. Upload your file. Send your contract and any relevant background information to your lawyer in a few clicks.
- 3. Talk to your lawyer. Your lawyer will call you to discuss the contract, their comments, and answer your questions.
- 4. Receive your revised contract. Your lawyer will send you a digital version of your new contract after they make the revisions. All done!

Why book a Contract Revision through Goodlawyer?

Because your contract isn't quite right. Signing a contract that's 90% ready can be as bad as not using a contract at all. All it takes to void your agreement and leave you exposed is having one clause that you don't understand or violates your jurisdictional or industry-specific laws.

Adapt to changing circumstances. Contract Revisions are an affordable way to update your existing contracts to meet your current and future needs. You don't have to be stuck with the same agreements you've used for years and you also don't have to start from scratch.

Frequently Asked Questions

Can I revise a template I found online?

In most cases, these templates can be revised for you. There may be some cases where the template needs so much work (or is simply the wrong template for your needs) that it would be easier to draft a brand new, custom agreement. If this happens, your Good Lawyer will always inform you in advance and you can choose to do nothing, pay a premium for complicated adjustments, or purchase a brand new custom agreement.

I'm not sure if I need revisions. Should I purchase a Contract Review first?

Yes, this is a great option for people who are unsure about the need for revisions. For $25 per page, a lawyer can look over your existing contract and point out any areas of risk or clauses you might want to consider changing. You can learn more about Contract Reviews here.

Is there a discount if I've already purchased a Contract Review?

Yes, of course. If your document has already been reviewed by a Good Lawyer, you can purchase a Contract Revision for $20 / page ($15 legal fee and $5 service fee) instead of $45 / page. Message your Good Lawyer if you want to Revise a contract they have reviewed and they will book the service for you.

Can I send part of a contract?

It is extremely difficult, generally impossible, to review part of a contract without the rest of the document for context. It is highly recommended that you send the entire document so that your lawyer can provide advice that is accurate and useful. We cannot guarantee the quality (or even the completion) of your Contract Revision if you don't submit the entire document.

Will I be charged for the title page?

We do not charge for title pages, signature pages, or any other non-substantial pages. Your lawyer will always double-check that the number of pages is correct, using their judgment to either add or remove pages from the bill as needed.

How does the guarantee work?

We guarantee that you will get high-quality legal help. Your card is not charged until after your service is done, and if you are unsatisfied with the quality of your service or your lawyer, we will refund you up to $100. Simply contact us at help@goodlawyer.ca to initiate the refund process with our customer success team.

Do I need a lawyer in my province?

For most business law questions the answer is "no". For employment and commercial tenancy related issues, it's best to speak to a lawyer who has experience in your province. Goodlawyer has lawyers all over Canada with diverse experiences and specializations. If your lawyer doesn't think they can answer your question due to a provincial issue, Goodlawyer will find another Good Lawyer who can help you.

An easy and affordable way to connect with a lawyer. The lawyer I selected (Matthew Langer) took the time to explain everything to me in detail, in a way that I could understand. I will definitely use this service again in the future.
